

“Addressing global crises – the pandemic, climate change, the economy, migration and refugees”

first of all, I want to thank you for your commitment when it comes to our cooperation and to convey regards from our president Mr. Djukanovic, who very much respect your engagement.

That’s why our 3 member delegation took an active participation in this council, that is very important because it is a first after pandemic crises and allow us to remark on key experiences during this period.

A report on this topic could be started as Al Gore did at the UN climate change conference held in Bali in 2007. On that occasion Al Gore said: We, the humans, are confronting a planetary emergency. This expression will still sound exaggerate to someone, but it is dead accurate, as a true description of the circumstances in which we find ourselves. He alluded to the alarming state of climate change, but today we can say the same about all the other challenges we face on a global level.

The fact is that we live in a very sensitive and very uncertain social, political, economic, climate and military environment. There is almost no country that does not face threats that can damage the democratic order. Who have ever imagined that pandemic could happen and that would stop the whole world, or that in the 21st century brutal aggression would take place on the soil of Europe. It is not a distant past either the Mediterranean migration crisis, which is one of the largest humanitarian crises in the world and the largest that has occurred on Europe's doorstep in the past 20 years. Countries that thought they would never face the problem of migration - they do. So, surprises happen, uncertainty strikes.

These are not just political problems. These are moral imperatives.

COVID-19 pandemic put the entire planet to a serious test, being the most difficult challenge for the health of mankind and for the global stability and development. We are to face a demanding period where we have to work together on addressing the consequences of the crisis, and as it has shown so far, multilateralism is our best weapon in the fight against this and all future global threats.

Our political parties from various countries have the responsibility to improve people's welfare, advance national development and preserve peace and stability in the world, and they are obliged to jointly appeal that without cooperation, solidarity, mutual respect and trust on all meridians, we cannot preserve what is ours common civilizational heritage and progress further.

I will refer again to Al Gore and his famous sentence: We, who live on this planet are one nation. We have one future, one destiny. We have to go into that future together.

This has been confirmed today more than ever in the history of mankind.

Leaders of the left need a vision that will influence not only the internal affairs of their countries, but also international cooperation, which is connected by common program goals and aimed above all at the valorization of economic and development potentials, but also at the improvement of overall political and security stability.

In this way, we will show in the best way that the pandemic, but also other current and future challenges doesn't and will not prevent us from being focused on meaningful and open politics, aimed at solving economic and social tasks, strengthening stability and building a prosperous global society.

Exactly at this time we need to show the determination that we want and can pave the way for new political perspectives that will help us to more easily reach the exchange and integration of goods, technologies, capital and human resources, or scientific and technological knowledge and the exchange of practice in overcoming the difficulties that we are facing, and to seek joint answers to the challenges, preserving the basic values of Western democracy. In this, you can count on the full support of the Democratic Party of Socialists and Montenegro.

„Rješavanje globalnih kriza – pandemije, klimatske promjene, ekonomija, migracije i izbjeglice”

Izlaganje na ovu temu moglo bi se započeti kao što je to uradio Al Gor na konferenciji UN o klimatskim promjenama održanoj na Baliu 2007. godine. Tom Al Gor je rekao: “Mi, ljudi, suočeni smo danas s planetarnom uzbunom. Ovaj izraz i dalje će nekima zvučati pretjerano, ali on je smrtno tačan, kao pravi opis okolnosti u kojima se nalazimo. On je aludirao na alarmantno stanje u klimatskim promjenama, a danas to možemo da kažemo i za sve druge izazove sa kojima se planetarno suočavamo.

Činjenica je da živimo u veoma osjetljivom i veoma neizvjesnom društveno-političkom, ekonomskom i vojnom ambijentu. Gotovo da ne postoji država koja se ne suočava sa prijetnjama koje mogu ugroziti demokratski poredak. Ko je ikada mogao da zamisli da se može desiti pandemija koja će zaustaviti čitav svijet, ili da će se u 21. vijeku desiti brutalna agresija na tlu Evrope. Nije daleka prošlost ni Mediteranska-migraciona kriza koja je jedna od najvećih humanitarnih kriza na svijetu i najveća koja se dogodila na pragu Evrope u proteklih 20 godina. Zemlje koje su mislile da se nikada neće suočiti sa problemom migracija- suočavaju se. Dakle, iznenadjenja se dešavaju, neizvjesnost pogadja.

Nisu ovo samo politički problem. Ovo su moralni imperativi.

Pandemija Covid19 je cijelu planetu stavila na ozbiljna iskušenja savremenog doba, predstavljajući najozbiljniji izazov i za zdravlje čovječanstva, i za stabilnost i razvoj u svijetu. Očekuje nas zahtjevan period u kojem moramo zajednički raditi na otklanjanju posljedica krize, a kao što se i pokazalo do sada multilateralizam predstavlja naše najbolje oružje u borbi protiv ove i svih budućih globalnih prijetnji.

Naše političke partije iz raznih zemalja imaju odgovornost za poboljšanje dobrobiti ljudi, unapređenje nacionalnog razvoja i očuvanje mira i stabilnosti u svijetu, i u obavezi su da zajednički apeluju da bez saradnje, solidarnosti, međusobnog uvažavanja i povjerenja na svim meridijanima ne možemo očuvati ono što je naše zajedničko civilizacijsko nasljeđe i napredovati dalje.

Ponovo ću se osvrnuti na Al Gora i njegovu čuvenu rečenicu: Mi što živimo na ovoj planeti-jedan smo narod. Imamo jednu budućnost, jednu sudbinu. Moramo u tu budućnost ići zajedno.

Danas je to potvrđeno više nego ikada u istoriji čovječanstva.

Lideri ljevice trebaju viziju koja će uticati ne samo na unutrašnje poslove u svojim zemljama, već i na međunarodnu saradnju koja je povezana zajedničkim programskim ciljevima i usmjerena prije svega na valorizaciju ekonomskih i razvojnih potencijala, ali i na unapređenje ukupne političke i bezbjednosne stabilnosti.

Tako ćemo na najbolji način pokazati da nas pandemija, ali ni drugi aktuelni i budući izazovi nisu i neće spriječiti da budemo okrenuti sadržajnoj i otvorenoj politici, usmjerenoj na rješavanje ekonomskih i društvenih zadataka, jačanju stabilnosti i izgradnji prosperitetnog globalnog društva.

Upravo u ovo vrijeme treba da pokažemo odlučnost da želimo i možemo krčiti put novim političkim perspektivama koje će pomoći da lakše dođemo do razmjene i integracije roba, tehnologija, kapitala i kadra, odnosno do naučnih i tehnoloških znanja i razmenu prakse u prevazlaženju poteškoća sa kojima se suočavamo, i da tražimo zajedničke odgovore na izazove, čuvajući u tome osnovne vrijednosti Zapadne demokratije. U tome možete računati na punu podršku Demokratske partije socijalista i Crne Gore.
